Zenitel's intelligent audio technology is scalable, interoperable and secure and ranges from easy applications to more robust and complex systems. The same edge devices are used regardless of system size, allowing users to grow their audio systems as the needs change, without having to replace any of the devices in the field.

Single Product Range

3 Different Platforms

ICX-AlphaCom

ICX-AlphaCom is all about integration. All communication devices (radio, telephone, PA, intercom, etc.) come together on the ICX-AlphaCom platform to be integrated with the overall Building Management System. This allows the use of powerful tools such as voice and audio in maintaining building security.

IC-EDGE

C-EDGE is a self-contained communication platform that's embedded in the actual IP Intercom and IP PA devices. No external server hardware is required and configuration is easily done using a web browser. Easy to deploy, use and maintain. Ideal for SMB companies.

SIP

Our devices also support the SIP protocol. This means that they can be used on any VoIP communication platform that supports SIP. We understand that some customers prefer to keep the number of servers and other hardware to a minimum. Using SIP, you're able to hear, be heard and understood, when and where you need to, every time – all while using your existing VoIP system.
